A Reading from the Acts of the Apostles
Acts 3:13-15, 17-19

Peter said to the people: "The God of Abraham, the God of Isaac, and the God of Jacob, the God of our fathers, has glorified his servant Jesus, whom you handed over and denied in Pilate's presence when he had decided to release him. You denied the Holy and Righteous One and asked that a murderer be released to you. The author of life you put to death, but God raised him from the dead; of this we are witnesses. Now I know, brothers, that you acted out of ignorance, just as your leaders did; but God has thus brought to fulfillment what he had announced beforehand through the mouth of all the prophets, that his Christ would suffer. Repent, therefore, and be converted, that your sins may be wiped away."

A reading from the First Letter of St. John.
1 Jn 2:1-5a

My children, I am writing this to you so that you may not commit sin. But if anyone does sin, we have an Advocate with the Father, Jesus Christ the righteous one. He is expiation for our sins, and not for our sins only but for those of the whole world. The way we may be sure that we know him is to keep his commandments. Those who say,

Deacon's Dialogue
By: Rev. Mr. Richard Kasprzak

It has been a tough week for us and for my friends. We learned last week that my friend of 60 years and his wife had experienced a tragic death. Then on top of that, my brother and his wife also had the same kind of death occur.

My friend, David and his wife Penny, own a campground in Pennsylvania. They had driven down for a visit with family and friends, when they were notified that their youngest son had died, and that it was a drug related death. Within days, my brother let us know that his stepson, also in his mid-thirties, had died under the same circumstances. These were terrible shocks for Liz and myself, but I could not imagine anything of greater pain than having to put your own child to rest.

On Easter Monday, we drove to the East side to attend the memorial service which was held at Heritage Nondenominational Christian church. The service was not what I was used to, but I was honored by being asked to do two Scriptural readings.

On Wednesday, Liz and I drove to a Mausoleum in Kettering, Ohio. Again the service for my brother's stepson was non-denominational Christian. It was similar to the Monday service.

What I walked away with afterward, was that I couldn't adequately fathom the depth of the sorrow felt by the parents of both of these young men. I do not have the words to express my feelings of sorrow for the pain the parents, and especially their mothers, feel at the loss of their beloved child.

We just passed Good Friday, and the mother of Jesus had also gone through the same kind of experience, the death of her Son I saw the tears on those mothers eyes, and Christ's mother suffered the same pain.

And no, I am not forgetting the fathers. Their grief is there, just not as outward, kept inside more. Just the hugs we embraced, told the depth of pain inside.

A Reading from the Holy Gospel according to St. Luke.

Lk 24:35-48

The two disciples recounted what had taken place on the way, and how Jesus was made known to them in the breaking of bread. While they were still speaking about this, he stood in their midst and said to them, “Peace be with you.” But they were startled and terrified and thought that they were seeing a ghost. Then he said to them, “Why are you troubled? And why do questions arise in your hearts? Look at my hands and my feet, that it is I myself. Touch me and see, because a ghost does not have flesh and bones as you can see I have.” And as he said this, he showed them his hands and his feet. While they were still incredulous for joy and were amazed, he asked them, “Have you anything here to eat?” They gave him a piece of baked fish; he took it and ate it in front of them. He said to them, “These are my words that I spoke to you while I was still with you, that everything written about me in the law of Moses and in the prophets and psalms must be fulfilled.” Then he opened their minds to understand the Scriptures. And he said to them, “Thus it is written that the Christ would suffer and rise from the dead on the third day and that repentance, for the forgiveness of sins, would be preached in his name to all the nations, beginning from Jerusalem. You are witnesses of these things.”

Prayer of St. Michael

*Holy Michael, the Archangel, defend us in battle. Be our safeguard against the wickedness and snares of the devil. May God rebuke him, we humbly pray; and do you, O Prince of the heavenly host, by the power of God cast in- to hell Satan and all the evil spirits who wander through the world seeking the ruin of souls.
Amen.*

A Note From the Pastor!

Today we celebrate the Second Sunday in the Octave of Easter, also known as Low Sunday. It is named 'Low Sunday', because it is still a part of the celebration of Easter, but to a lower degree than last Sunday was. However, that does not mean that we should be low, but still be partaking in that Easter Joy that we so generously were given by Our Savior!

Have a blessed week!

Fr. John

Our Savior Recipe Section

This week's recipe is by Fr. John Cramer

Italian Sausage Hoagies

2 Tbsp Olive Oil
5 Mild Italian Sausage Links
1 Green Bell Pepper, sliced
1 Red Bell Pepper, sliced
1 Sweet Yellow Onion, sliced
2 cloves garlic, minced
14.5 oz can Diced Italian Tomatoes with juice
1/2 tsp. salt
2-3 Tbsp. Italian Seasoning
1 tsp onion powder
1 Tbsp Brown Sugar
Hoagie Buns
Provalone Slices

In a large skillet on high heat, add the oil. Brown the sausages well on all sides to get a dark color on them. Place the sausages on a plate. Add the peppers and onions to the same skillet and cook for 5 minutes. Reduce the heat to medium and add the garlic for the last minute. Add the sausages back to the pan and dump in the diced tomatoes, salt, Italian seasoning, onion powder and brown sugar. Bring to a boil and reduce to simmer for 30-60 minutes, or until sausages are cooked through. Toast the hoagie buns, add cheese to the inside and place in the sausage and pepper mixture. Add parmesan cheese if desired.
